

Office Memorandum • UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : Chief, Plans and Policy Staff

DATE: 19 March 1958

FROM : Chief, Assessment and Evaluation

SUBJECT: Progress Report for Killian Committee

Most significant Assessment and Evaluation Staff progress has been made in two directions:

a. Great strides have been taken in developing procedures for insuring more wide spread and appropriate use of psychological information in relation to personnel decisions.

b. Services to instruction in the Office of Training and in the DD/P have been expanded and diversified. It was possible to assign psychologists full time to the Intelligence School, to an overseas training base, and to the training effort of SR (This assignment is for this year only). Services have been diversified by providing substantive psychological information particularly in the area of human relations to the instructors for use in various courses and by applying psychological principles to the organization of courses for effective learning.
